

HORSE FACTS

Horses have eyes on the side of their head to enable them to spot predators quickly and easily. They have two blind spots- directly in front of them and directly behind them. Always be careful and let the horse know when you're in one of their blind spots.

HORSE FACTS

Horses have eyes on the side of their head to enable them to spot predators quickly and easily. They have two blind spots- directly in front of them and directly behind them. Always be careful and let the horse know when you're in one of their blind spots.

HORSE FACTS

Horses have eyes on the side of their head to enable them to spot predators quickly and easily. They have two blind spots- directly in front of them and directly behind them. Always be careful and let the horse know when you're in one of their blind spots.

HORSE FACTS

Horses have eyes on the side of their head to enable them to spot predators quickly and easily. They have two blind spots- directly in front of them and directly behind them. Always be careful and let the horse know when you're in one of their blind spots.