

Root vegetables grow underground like buried treasure! They're full of healthy vitamins that help your body grow strong. Plant carrots, radishes, onions, beets, turnips, and parsnips in the fall. Potatoes like to be planted in early spring, and sweet potatoes grow best a little later. Make sure the soil is loose so the veggies have room to grow big!