

Citrus fruits like satsumas, mandarins, and Meyer lemons grow in southern Georgia, where it's warm. Some citrus can even handle cold weather. These fruits are full of vitamin C, which helps keep you healthy. In Georgia, citrus is picked in the fall and winter—perfect for holiday snacks!